Librarian's Report

April began with filling the open maintenance job; we have welcomed John Hooper into this position.

There have been a few building updates this month. The touchscreens that control the lights and projector in the Community Room died, and we are in the process of getting those either fixed or replaced, whichever is needed. We got a camera installed in the building that faces the front counter and part of the main room, and also a panic button installed at the front counter for staff safety. I am in the process of getting the Community Room occupancy certified by the town to have that posted in the building. The fire extinguishers were inspected and replaced, and an additional extinguisher was put in the Community Room.

I began working with Employers Council on the compensation analysis project and will give updates and results on that to the board when available.

Library Director,
Kristina Selby
